BLOODY AFFAIR AT MITCHELLVILLE, TENN.

The "Green-eyed Monster" Again on the Walk.

A Negro Murderer His Rival.

A Desperate Attacks an Officer of the Law.

The Officer Summons the Crowd as Possé Comitatensis.

The Desperate with a Boy of Friends Attack the Possé.

One of the Desperates Killed and Another Mortally Wounded.

The Justice of the Peace Dismalously Wounded, and Many of Both Sides Seriously Injured.

We have just learned from a reliable gentleman residing near Mitchellville, Tenn., the scene of the bloody encounter, the particulars of a desperate and fatal conflict between the officers of the law and a posse of citizens summoned to assist them, and a party of desperadoes who have long been a terror to the town.

On Sunday last, about two miles from Mitchellville, Tennessee, just on the Kentucky border, two negroes, David Givins and Charles Givins, got into a quarrel about an ebony sweetheart, who seems to have indulged in fair promises to both, and invited attention from both, through the influence of a woman given to each at their every call, that she would soon crown their efforts to win her love. Whether or not it was true, John, who verified its purity by clearing the stage that "the course of true love never did run smooth," we cannot say. We cannot even affirm that any true love existed between the parties.

The quarrel grew daily more violent between the lovers, until on last Sunday the two met. A few angry words were interchanged, when the two came to blows, that resulted in the stabbing of Givins, severely, that he died on Tuesday, the 27th inst.

Givins, the homicide, was arrested, and taken before Judge Samuel Lyman, on the 27th. A large and boisterous crowd was present, composed of the friends of law and order, and a few lawless characters that were determined to defend the prisoner. Among the prisoner's associates were three desperadoes, known as Presa, Bill, and Theodore. The latter, the constable in charge of the prisoner, moved to the arrest of Givins, and called upon the citizens present to assist. Presa, a pistol and fired at the officer, when a general fight ensued. Both parties were heavily armed, and ready for the encounter. The fight lasted for some moments, and ended with the killing of Presa, and the mortal wounding of Bill, while Givins, who was pierced by three bullets, and the mortal wounding of Officer A. C. Lyman, who was shot twice through the body and once through the thigh.

Lyman was very severely cut on the head by a knife in the hands of one of the desperadoes, but his wound is not considered dangerous. Almost every man in either party received painful stabs or pistol wounds.

We sadly regret the untimely fate of Officer Lyman, whose family we well know. Both the deceased and Lyman were among the most highly respected, and indeed, among the most intelligent and law-abiding citizens of that region of country. As faithful officers of the law, their services will be long remembered with gratitude by their neighbors. We condole with Lyman's family, and wish for him a speedy recovery.

Both the parties were well known among the mechanics of Louisville, with whom they were once associated, and who, we are sure, lament with their families the untimely occurrence.

WILKINSON.—How can we adequately express our thanks for the elegant and abundant collation sent to cheer us in the weary labors of last night by those ladies beautiful, Madame F. X. Donahue and Chaffetz and Mrs. Cody, of table No. 1? It came in good time, between the pauses in the eternal scribbling, and we feel as grateful as any orphan of St. Vincent for the boon and the bounty.

TOURISTS AMONG THE LITTLE MONS.—Quite an interesting little row occurred in a certain fashionable house up town last night, about 10 o'clock. One of the fair but frail inmates became jealous of a visitor in shame, and in a moment of fury, attacked her with a small dagger. Before the conflict had begun, the other inmates of the house, who were in the room, knocked the mad woman down, and disarmed her. All parties were arrested, and will probably have an opportunity to explain the matter to Judge Craig this morning.

LOUISVILLE GUEST BOOK.—By request, we call the attention of the members to the fact, that to-night, the last Thursday of the month, is the night for the transaction of the regular business of the organization. We are requested by the officers of the house to call to state that, at the meeting to-night, arrangements will be made for removal to their new rooms next week. Let every member of the club be present to-night. Don't let the organization "go under." The meeting will be held at the "Board of Trade" rooms.

THOUGHTS AT GALLATIN.—A company of infantry has been stationed at Gallatin in order of General Thomas. Franklin, Ky., has been made the headquarters of Colonel Leila's "forces."

IT is said that "Captain Skaggs," whose men have been committing the outrages in Marion and other counties, is Bluffton Kennedy, late of the Federal army.

CIVIL RIGHTS BILL.—The argument on the legality of the Civil Rights Bill, that was set for yesterday in the United States Court in this city, has been postponed until Dec. 20th.

A Painted Case—A Husband Abuses his Wife and Resorts to Family and Takes up with Another Woman.

We are informed that yesterday the examination of Aleck McElroy, late of Louisville, was held before the Mayor of Jeffersonville upon a charge of adultery.

His predecessor, Sarah Davis, a native of Kentucky, and each was given $500 to answer to the charge. The story leading to this is too long and painful to be detailed. Suffice it to say that some years since McElroy fell heir to a decent property, and married. He lived happily, in a fashionable quarter of the town, and in the course of years two children were born into him. But finally, extending to the record as far as the law is concerned, he became irregular in his habits, and the wife says she was submitted to many indignities, not to say abuse.

Finally, the matter culminated in the husband taking his children and leaving Louisville to reside in New Albany, under an assumed name. The injured wife had sued for divorce and alimony, and the Court had granted the divorce and $10,000 alimony, issued an order for the enforcement of the decree. Upon the disappearance of the husband, the officers began tracing him first to New Albany, and thence to Jeffersonville, where the pair were brought to light, with the result we have stated. The mother was awarded the custody of her little girl, while the father was given the younger child, a boy.

AN INTERESTING CASE.—A peculiarly interesting case was tried before the Court yesterday. It was a case of a beautiful girl, named Ellen Carter, who was arrested upon the charge of stealing nine hundred and ninety-five dollars from Mr. Ford, living in O'Neal's alley, on the 18th of August last. The poor girl is an orphan, homeless, and friendless. Her father and mother were killed by a lightning bolt, and she was left an orphan. She was brought to light, with the result we have stated. The mother was awarded the custody of her little girl, while the father was given the younger child, a boy.

DETROIT.—The Solicitor of the Treasury has now organized a complete corps of detectives to forest all counterfeiters of national currency. Most of the counterfeiting is done in New York, the greater part of the counterfeit money produced is shipped to the South, where it is more readily passed, as the people are unaccustomed to its use, and therefore able to detect than in the Northern States. This is clearly proven by the fact that in many places of the currency received at the Treasury from parties in the South for redemption is loaded with counterfeit money, and a large part, frequently one-half, is found to be spurious.

MOBILE.—A day or two since, two sons of Mr. Goldsmith, while hunting in a piece of woods on the Colerain place, a few miles from the city, discovered some money engaged in playful pranks on a woodpile. Thinking them to be coins, the boys fired at them and brought them to the ground. The money, however, was only stamped, and was speedily made a captive. The next day two others were seen in the same place, and it was ascertained that they had escaped from some circus or menagerie, and had taken refuge in the woods named.—Cincinnati Gazette.

St. Louis, Nov. 27, 1866.
 Colonel John W. Thomas died at the residence of Captain W. H. Thomas, on the 18th inst., in his eighty-fifth year.

Colonel Thomas served through the War of 1861-62, and was killed at the battle of Fort Mifflin, and afterwards fought in the West, and one of the most popular officers in the army. He removed to this State in 1859, and settled near St. Louis. He was a man of high character, and was loved by all who knew him. He was a devoted husband, and a devoted father. For the last two years he has been suffering from a long illness, and died peacefully.

Lava Stock.—The rain which fell in the morning of the 26th inst., and continued all day, did little or no effect on the market, which remained about the same. Shippers were not shown any more, and the market in the press for some time, and are not likely to do so, as long as present prices are maintained. It is a pity to see the market so quiet, and it is to be hoped that it will move soon.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

A Very Curious Love Romance in His Life.
 From a letter delivered by his son, Robert Lincoln, to the Louisville Journal.

Ladies and gentlemen, friends—come, my dear friends, to the great, kind, and tender heart of your father, who is now a beautiful girl of New Salem from 1821 to 1836. She was born in Kentucky, and her father was a farmer. She was a beautiful girl, and her father was a farmer. She was a beautiful girl, and her father was a farmer.

FRANCE

A New American Club in Paris.
 Paris, November 27, 1866. (From London Mail.)

The American residents in Paris, anticipating a great influx of their countrymen, have just made an application to the police authorities for permission to set up a new club. This makes the third club of the kind in Paris. The first was the "American Club," and the second was the "American Club." The new club is to be called the "American Club." It is to be a place where Americans can meet and talk over their affairs.
